

Egerias Travels

Egeria, Etheria or Aetheria was a woman, widely regarded to be the author of a detailed Egeria set down her observations in a letter now called Itinerarium Egeriae ("Travels of Egeria"). It is sometimes also called Peregrinatio Aetheriae. This book not only provides a translation of the surviving reports by Egeria of her travels to her fellow nuns at home in Spain but contains a commentary on the Egeria, who was most probably a Spanish nun, visited the Holy Land only fifty years after the death of Constantine, making her work the earliest surviving.
